The length of suspension of privileges may range from one day to the remainder of the pool season, and in particularly egregious circumstances affecting safety of other participants, may be extended to the immediately succeeding annual pool season as well. In the event the Board shall propose a suspension of use privileges as penalty for infraction of these rules, the Board shall notify the person or persons accused of violating the rules of their right to appear before the board at a due process hearing and give reason, if any, that the penalty proposed should not be invoked. Following such hearing, the Board shall notify the owner associated with the violator (in the event violator is a family member, guest or tenant), as well as notifying the violator specifically of the penalty imposed.”
